

PQM confirm these products were not considered as medical devices and so no DoC document required.